Additionally, each SLU College, School, and Center has adopted its own academic integrity policies, available on their respective websites. All SLU students are expected to know and abide by these policies, which detail definitions of violations, processes for reporting violations, sanctions, and appeals. Please direct questions about any facet of academic integrity to your faculty, the chair of the department of your academic program, or the Dean/Director of the College, School, or Center in which your program is housed.

[It is recommended that faculty insert in this area a statement as to what is considered academic honesty in their class and/or department. In the sections entitled "Additional general examples for inclusion" and "Additional specific examples for inclusion," we have provided some general as well as course-specific examples that can be utilized.

In addition, faculty should clearly state the consequences of acts of academic dishonesty in their classroom. An example is provided below in the section titled, "Disciplinary action".]

Furthermore, faculty are encouraged to include the following statement in the syllabus and have students in each class sign an agreement to uphold the policy: Students in this class must read, understand, and sign the
