Call to Order: Dr. Dorsey called the meeting to order at 9:35

What types of courses and/or departments show as an option for students to take this exam? Example: a biology course, a student will still need to take the course if they want to be in premedicine. Would the student then intentionally gravitate to options for general education? What are the overall buckets pertaining to the challenge exams?

Is this in line with HLC requirements?

What is the framework around the medical students and how would challenge exam credit move forward when the students enter medical school.

How many of these challenge exams are students allowed to take and challenge out of a specific course. This should be limited to a specific number or 1 course only.

What is the core trying to accomplish by being the foundation of our Jesuit education if a student can opt out of several courses?

Is this offered for undergraduate students only?

Dr. Dorsey shared conversations around the micro-credential proposal form and noted the following discussions:

Will it impact other stakeholders around campus and if it is, what does this look like and are they on-board?

There was a query regarding the issuing of the badges. We are not developing a new system for badging; we will continue to utilize Credly.
